ACTIVITIES THAT REQUIRE PERMITS

In the interest of ensuring the public’s safety and freedom of travel, the Newark Municipal Code regulates certain public gatherings and activities that involve large numbers of people. These may include, but are not necessarily limited to, public assemblies, parades, foot races, bicycle races, walking events, demonstrations, block parties, fairs, festivals, and concerts.

Depending upon the nature of the event, it may or may not require a permit. Several factors may affect this requirement, such as the number of people involved, the location, the impact on traffic, and whether any fee or donation is charged.

This brochure was developed to assist citizens in determining if they need to obtain a permit for their desired event. It is not intended to replace the Newark Municipal Code.

If you have any questions regarding the permit process, please feel free to contact the Newark Police Department for further assistance.

GENERAL PROVISIONS REGARDING PERMITS

Application forms are available in the Permit Requests section of the Police Department website at http://newarkde.gov/police.

In order to ensure the public safety, the Chief of Police may limit the duration, times, and date(s) of an event and may require liability insurance naming the City of Newark as an insured party if there are any unusual hazards that are apparent.

The Chief may waive liability insurance upon a showing that such insurance is unreasonable or impractical. In such circumstances, the person(s) responsible for the event shall sign a save harmless agreement in which the responsible party agrees to defend, pay, and save harmless the City of Newark, its officers, and employees from any and all claims or lawsuits arising from or in any way connected to the event for which the permit was issued.

Standards for denial

The reasons for which the Chief of Police may deny a permit include, but are not limited to:

- The event would disrupt traffic beyond practical solution.
- The event would interfere with access to fire stations or fire hydrants.
- The event would require the diversion of so many public employees or resources that it would deny or substantially impair service to the remainder of the City.
- The permit applicant(s) supplied false or incomplete information.
- The permit applicant(s) failed to comply with the terms and conditions of the permit.
